

MANY SHOT IN ATTACK ON FACTORY

NOTERS STONE AND USE RE-VOLVERS AGAINST SPECIAL OFFICERS AT BAYONNE.

INJURED ARE REMOVED

Remington Arms Workers Follow the Orders of Labor Leaders and Quit Work in Numbers.

New York, July 21.—Numerous rioting occurred around the plant of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and Bayonne, where a strike is in progress, early today, when a mob encountered the guards there. In the fighting that followed three of the rioters were wounded by shots fired by the guards. The men were taken to a hospital. Their wounds are not serious.

Seventy-five deputy sheriffs, 150 special policemen and a large squad of plainclothesmen guarded today the plant of the Standard Oil company in Bayonne, New Jersey. The plant was closed yesterday after a strike of several hundred employees, followed by a riot.

Fighting resumed. It was reported that the rioting was continued today. The Bayonne chief of police said that about 5,000 men were engaged in the attack and one of the rioters was killed. Fifty persons were taken to the Bayonne hospital suffering from injuries. The injured included both rioters and police.

Many Deputies. In the plant were 75 deputies sworn in by Sheriff Kinkead, and also 100 special policemen furnished by Bayonne. These men are said to be loyally entitled to serve. Great care is said to have been taken to avoid the use of force, which led to the trouble at the fertilizer strike at Bayonne. Jersey last winter, when outsiders were imported and sworn in as deputies.

Unarmed Police. Outside the inner guards were the uniform police of Bayonne. It was part of this force under personal command of Inspector Cady which was guarding the approach to the main entrance of the plant, that was attacked.
Several police were wounded. They were hit with stones. Shots were also fired at the police.

The situation became so threatening that the inspector ordered revolvers drawn and the police then fired. The rioting was then at its height. It halted the attack only a moment, and then the order was given to fire again, but this time to aim low. The police believed many bullets found their mark, but the injured were carried away.

While the firing from the crowd was in progress, Inspector Cady's house became almost uncontrollable.
Investigation showed that the house had been shot and was suffering from internal hemorrhage.

Ready for Arbitration. General manager Gifford of the plant today repeated his demand that the company would listen to any request or demand of its employees, but had received none. The strike, he said, had been brought on by unreasonable demands.

"We stand ready as in the past, to consider any complaint or request of the men," said Mr. Gifford.
"Under no circumstances will we arbitrate with the strikers." A Polish lawyer of Jersey City, not connected with the company in any capacity, was employed by the strikers and the barrel men. It was said that he presented their demands and this was the part in the strike that led the company officials to say they had received no complaint or request from their own men.

No Troops Sent. Trenton, July 21.—Mayor Pierre Garvan, of Bayonne, asked the governor's office here to send troops to Bayonne.
The request was not granted, and no troops will be sent unless a request comes from Sheriff Kinkead of Hudson county.

Pickets Halt Mechanics. Bridgeport, July 21.—Labor leaders announced today that the Remington Arms and Ammunition company maintained had stopped eight skilled mechanics from doing any work at the plant.

The pickets went to the plant soon after daybreak. Every mechanist that appeared ready to work was taken aside and talked to by the pickets. The labor men admitted that not all of the men approached had stayed away from work.
Although a strike call was issued yesterday, only 175 men obeyed the summons, according to the labor estimates. It is claimed the reason all the mechanics did not go out was on account of misunderstanding.

Claim 175 Men Struck. While the labor men claim 175 men struck, the Bridgeport Manufacturers association assert only twenty-eight employees actually laid down their tools.

An attempt to get some statement from Major W. D. Kenfield, work manager of the company, as to how many men accompanied to the company's council, was unsuccessful. John W. French, publicly agent of the Remington company, said:

"We are not at liberty to say how many mechanics, if any, are out on strike. We can give no figures. We do not want to appear discourteous, but it is utterly impossible to make any statement of any kind."

According to the figures of the labor men approximately 250 mechanics all fold are now on strike. They said 90 per cent of the mechanics at the old Remington plant—the Union Metallic Cartridge company—would walk out at noon today. Scores of mechanics waited before headquarters before going to work today at the Union Metallic Cartridge plant. Each was informed by George G. Bowen, local business agent of the union, that the walkout was scheduled for noon. It was stated all men who talked to Mr.
Bowen said that they intended to quit at the time designated. Other machinists working in a sub-contracting plant also appeared at the machinists' headquarters.

The men in this plant also have been notified to walk out at noon.
Strike calls resulted in other machinists throwing down their tools.

MARCONI ON FIRING LINE AS HEAD OF WIRELESS DEPARTMENT

Marconi, under arrow, just about to leave on tour of inspection of wireless stations.

In number of Bridgeport shops and walking out. Labor leaders claim they had taken 110 additional men from two plants doing work for the Remington Arms and Ammunition company. That pickets had succeeded in keeping eighty men from going to work at the new plant of the Remington concern that one hundred men on the night shift at the Union Metallic Cartridge company had gone on a strike, and that during the noon lunch hour hundreds of men on the day shift would quit. They estimated this forenoon that nearly 500 skilled machinists were now on strike. They reiterated their statement that there would be a complete closure of war munition factories by Saturday.

Disorder seemed eminent twice today, once at the new Remington plant, and once outside the work of a contractor making machine tools for Remington. A man who said he was a union organizer refused to move on when told to do so by a policeman. He was arrested and conveyed here today.
The policeman said he understood the laws of the state and that if the policeman carried out his threats he was likely to go, he would make a mistake. He was not forced to leave.

DRAM SHOP KEEPERS SEEK SALOON UPLIFT

Retail Liquor Dealers in Annual Session Give Resolution—Newspaper Fair Play Commended.

Kaukauna, Wis., July 21.—About thirty-five additional retailers attended the session of the retail liquor dealers' protective association, which opened its convention here today.

Resolutions were sent in most of them pertaining to the liquor industry and calling for an uplift of the trade and for cleaner saloons. A lengthy legislative report was submitted by W. J. Gleason of Milwaukee.

A resolution was adopted asking for the appointment of a committee to work out a plan for the insurance feature and submit it to the executive force.

An address was given by Oscar H.
Morris of Milwaukee, in which the fairness of all papers in Milwaukee and throughout Wisconsin was brought out, and a resolution was adopted endorsing the stand taken by the press in general.

WELSH COAL MINERS ACCEPT SETTLEMENT

Labor Trouble Now Definitely at an End Following Acceptance of Terms.

London, July 21.—The South Wales coal miners accepted the terms agreed upon yesterday and the strike is definitely at an end. Throughout the coal fields there was an overwhelming majority in favor of the settlement.

VON BERNSTORFF CALLS ON LANSING

German ambassador arriving at state department.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador to the United States, and Secretary of State Lansing were in conference for over an hour in reference to the new American note that is forthcoming in reply to the German note of July 9. The ambassador drove in his automobile to the state department in Washington.

SENATE ENGROSSES BILL CREATING ONE ENGINEERING STAFF

Senate Takes Initial Action on Administration Measure Which Aims at Economy.

Madison, July 21.—An administration measure introduced by Frank Hansen combining the architectural and engineering staffs of various state commissions into one board to be placed under the jurisdiction of the railroad commission, was advanced to engrossment in the senate today by a vote of nineteen to eight.
An amendment was adopted to retain the engineers now holding position under civil service. Senator Hansen said the separate staffs now doing this expert service were costing the state about $325,000 a year and that there is considerable overlapping.

Refuse to Reconsider. By a sixteen to fifteen vote, Lieutenant Governor Dittmar breaking a tie, the senate refused to reconsider the vote by which it killed the Hansen bill amending the corrupt practices act.

The senate voted 21 to 7 to kill the Ackley measure requiring all appropriation bills to be reported to the government before going to the legislature. The bill was denounced by Senators Bray and Boushared as a wrong principle bordering on an unlawful delegation of legislative power to pass upon licenses to be granted or discontinued. The Bennett substitute was then concurred in again and sent back to the assembly.

Governor Philipp has signed the Frank Hansen bill doing away with the selection pamphlet.

Action in Assembly. The defeat of the Grell bill to permit the manufacture of skimmed milk cheese in this state, of the Fairchild bill to permit the election of the mayor of Milwaukee for a term of four years with power to appoint the city attorney, city treasurer and controller and of a committee measure to regulate the manufacture and sale of canoes, marked the important development in the assembly today.

Passage was given the bill giving the railroad commission power to regulate the levy of market rates and to the Stademayer substitute for the central board of education bill creating a board of five members to regulate the finances of the school.

The bill regulating jitneys which was passed by the senate last week, was today concurred in by the assembly, fifty-one to twenty, after a debate. Reconsideration was then refused and the measure now goes to the governor.

FIRM BUT FRIENDLY WILL BE NOTE'S TONE

Secretary Lansing Puts Finishing Touches on Message to Berlin, Following Cabinet's Approval.

Washington, July 21.—Secretary Lansing was today perfecting the note to be sent to Germany by the United States on submarine warfare.

The character and purpose of the communication had been agreed upon at yesterday's cabinet meeting and all that remained today was to put it in shape for transmission to Berlin.

The note will be firm, yet friendly, in terms, and will renew the efforts to secure for American citizens protection on the high seas.

Through With Discussion. The United States has decided to inform Germany that further loss of American lives as result of German submarine warfare in contravention of principles of international law, will be regarded as an "unfriendly act."

The discussion of principles is virtually ended. The American government will now warn Germany of the interpretation it will place on future transgressions of American rights.

In the new note, the United States assumes that Germany has already admitted the principle that passengers must be removed to a place of safety before a vessel is sunk.

Taking the position, therefore, that the two governments are agreed in principle, the United States views it as incumbent upon Germany to make her submarine practice conform with the accepted principles of international law. Any deviation in actual practice resulting in the loss of American lives, it is then pointed out, will be viewed as an unfriendly act.

Indicates Finality. The action of the United States might subsequently take is not indicated, but in diplomatic usage, the phrase "unfriendly act" has always been used to indicate the possibility of friendly relations.

FILE SUIT AGAINST BANKRUPT RAILROAD

Just Before Foreclosure Sale of Defunct Road, Trust Company Files Papers For Indebtedness.

St. Louis, July 21.—A few minutes before the scheduled sale of the Wabash Railroad under foreclosure here at noon today, the New York trust company filed suit for $1,575,000 for the rental of cars and equipment against the Wabash railroad in the United States district court here.

The property franchise and all other rights of the Wabash railroad, a $220,000,000 corporation, were sold under the hammer for $18,000,000 to the joint reorganization committee of the road's creditors under foreclosure here today to satisfy a $41,000,000 mortgage, of which the Equitable trust company of New York is trustee.

BECKER IN APPEAL TO GOV. WHITMAN

New York, July 21.—Counsel for Charles Becker awaited today the result of Becker's appeal to Governor Whitman to forbid his execution on July 28 for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, Beck's partner in the night club at Albany last night included a long statement of his version of facts leading up to the murder. In this statement he denied complicity in the murder.

cific exposition. Theodore Roosevelt, dresses. He will participate in a tree planting ceremony and be the guest of honor at a reception.

CHEMICAL EXPERT SOUNDS VIEWS ON HOME PRODUCTION

Declares Americans can Produce all Dye Material Necessary for Trade—Shows German Trust Methods.

Detroit, Michigan, July 21.—Herbert Dow, president of the Dow Chemical company of Midland, Mich., told the federal trade commission meeting here today that American manufacturers of chemicals could produce indigo and other products fully as cheap here as abroad. All that is necessary for the cheap production of the chemical is a little more experience and knowledge of the "tricks of the trades."

Mr. Dow charged that as a result of his company selling a certain bromide abroad, Germany had taken the United States trade in that chemical from the Michigan concern.

"We were warned," he said, "that for every pound we exported, the Germans would put two pounds in the United States. We thought it was a bluff and continued to export the bromide. The result was that we did not have a single pound in the United States. The Germans not only paid duty of 25% but actually undersold us. Since the war started, however, we have regained part of our trade."

USES FLAGLER NAME IN FRAUD SCHEME

Woman Fifty Years Old Held For Examination Under Heavy Bonds in New York For Alleged Fraud.

New York, July 21.—A woman who described herself as Mrs. Zora Emma Flagler, fifty years old, was held on $5,000 bail for examination Friday by Magistrate McQuade charged with obtaining money under false pretences.

The complainant, Frank J. Mahoney, swore to an affidavit that he paid $400 to the woman, after she had represented that she, as the widow, was soon to receive $15,000 from the estate of the late Henry M. Flagler, millionaire railroad builder.

Mrs. Flagler asked that the date for her examination be fixed for Friday as her lawyer, who is not in Chicago is expected back at that time.

Lawrence C. Haines of Brooklyn, representing the Flagler estate, was in court, and made an affidavit, stating that the woman, who is not in Chicago is expected back at that time.

Gov. Philipp Signs
AGRICULTURAL BILL

Wastes No Time in Placing Signature
On This and One Other Administration Measure.

Madison, Wis., July 21.—It took Governor Philipp just about two minutes yesterday to sign two important bills recently passed by the legislature. The first was the measure providing for a department of agriculture, presided over by a commissioner of agriculture and advised by an honorary board of eleven members, three in the country, will have charge of the varied agricultural interests of the state. It is part of the governor's program for a constitution of commissions and boards.
The head of this department will probably be appointed this week. The second bill was the repeal of the election pamphlet law. This was at one time a widely advertised progressive measure that failed utterly in the accomplishment of anything but a large bill for the taxpayers to shoulder. The first measure was brought to the governor at 2:30 p. m. and signed immediately. The second was given two minutes for consideration.

CAN'T BLAME PHILIPP FOR SALARY HOLD-UP

Officials at Waupun Prison go Without Pay Since April—Await New Appropriations.

Madison, Wis., July 21.—"Governor Philipp has absolutely nothing to do with the fact that officials at Waupun prison have not been paid their May and June salaries," said M. J. Tap-pins, secretary of the state board of control yesterday in reply to an editorial in a Waupun paper blaming the governor for this condition of affairs. "The matter of the fact there is any one to blame it is the 1913 legislature for not having appropriated enough to run the institution for two years," he continued. "This is not the first time that officials have had to wait for their salaries at the end of the appropriation period and I presume it will be the last. We are at present time waiting for the 1915 legislature to pass the appropriation bills after which this condition will be remedied.
The charge that the governor has anything to do with it or that he could do anything to get this money for these officials is as untrue as it is ridiculous."

STATE LABOR PLEAS KILL JITNEY BILL

Wisconsin Federation in Session at Superior, Says Free Lance Carrier Impetus to Improvement.

Superior, Wis., July 21.—A resolution demanding that the Wisconsin state legislature kill the jitney bill now pending, was passed by the Wisconsin Federation of Labor at the opening session of the 23d annual convention here this morning. The resolution declares that the jitneys in a few months have accomplished more in improving traction conditions in Wisconsin than the state railroad commission had done in all the years of its existence.

Condition.—11 Drowned

Kenon, Ohio, July 21.—Another heavy rain last night aggravated flood conditions on the Scioto marsh to such an extent that a mass meeting of citizens was held today to plan means of relief for the four thousand residents of the marsh who are either homeless or on the verge of starvation. A delegation will go to Columbus to take up the situation with Governor Willis.

Many Refugees. There are three hundred refugees

ROMANS MAKE GAIN ON ISONZO FRONT

Vigorous Italian Offensive North of Gulf of Trieste Said to Be Successful.

Rome, July 20, via Paris, July 21.— Rough fighting on the Isonzo front, north of the Gulf of Trieste, resulting in gains for the Italian force is announced in a statement given out tonight at the war office. The report is as follows:

Our vigorous offensive all along the Isonzo front continued yesterday, progress being made, especially on the Corno plateau, where at the end of the day several additional trenches were taken and five hundred prisoners, including five officers, captured.

Our troops, though fatigued by the hot and nightfall, our troops ploughed until tossing themselves firmly in the conquered positions, and resisted cavalry attacks of the enemy during the night. The action continues to develop.

"The situation over the rest of the front is unchanged."

TWO HIGH OFFICERS DISMISSED IN CHINA

Both Were Ministers of New Chinese Cabinet and One is Banished to Province.

Peking, July 21.—(Government of the Associated Press.) Two important officers of the government, both vice ministers of the cabinet, have been dismissed summarily. President Yuan has ordered the dismissal of Chang Hu, vice minister of finance, who has been acting also as a director of the State Bank, one of the principal sources of revenue in the country.
Shang Hu was banished to Szechuen province. Yeh Kung Cho, the vice minister of communications, is the other dismissed man.

Not long ago, another high official formerly a personal friend of President Yuan, was executed because of corruption.

ing down and killing the night attendants and the night supervisor and locking them in a room.

The men who escaped are, James McAlister, charged with murder in St. Louis; Thomas Hallard, Princeton, Wis., charged with assault with intent to kill, and Oscar Cherry of Fond du Lac, charged with burglary.
Prison authorities say the three are dangerous criminals.

DIX'S LUMBER CO. GOES TO THE WALL

Ex-Governor Dix of New York and the Moose Lumber Company File Bankrupt Petitions.

Albany, New York, July 21.—Announcement was made here today that friendly involuntary petitions in bankruptcy had been filed in the United States district court at Utica by former Governor John A. Dix, individually, and the Moose River Lumber Company, of which Mr. Dix is the principal stockholder. No statement of the assets or liabilities in either case was given.

The petitions, which were accompanied by the written statements admitted the inability of Mr. Dix and the company to meet their obligations. Business conditions are blamed for both failures.

DRIVE ALONG EASTERN FRONT CONTINUES TO THREATEN RUSSIAN CITY OF WARSAW
ON TWO SIDES.

RUSS HOLDING LINES

Western Front Shows But Little Change—Italy Continues to Advance Slowly into Austrian Territory.

London, July 21.—There is no halt so far as official reports indicate in the Teutonic drive at Warsaw, having as a larger motive the infliction of a crushing blow upon the Russian army.

The Russians, however, seem to be showing increasing powers of resistance, as the lines of the attacking hosts draw closer to the Polish capital.

Last official statements shows the Germans under the guns of the fortress Nowo Georgiewsk, the key to Warsaw on the north, and only nineteen miles from the city. Further north, the fortress of Ostrolenka fell.

In the Baltic provinces the German advances continue. The campaign in his latter section is interpreted by military observers in capitals of the entente allies as possibly intended to cut in on Russian lines of communication and prevent a successful retreat of their armies from the Warsaw region.

Less speedy but none the less steady is the Austro-German advance through southern Poland. So far as reports show the important communication line in the Lublin region has not been pierced.

Exchange Prisoners. Brin, July 21 wires.—The Over-Seas News Agency today gave out the following:

Negotiations between Germany and Russia for the exchange of inappropriate prisoners of war have finally been successful, after many fruitless endeavors due largely to the work of Ambassador Gerard in Berlin.

"The Russian government has agreed to exchange prisoners with escorts has been abandoned. The prisoners will be forwarded by railway through Germany to Russia. Exchange stations have been selected and the Swedish government has undertaken to transport German and Russian prisoners to the frontier at the same time."

An agreement has been reached for the designation by the Danish Red cross of men to visit prisoners in camps in Russia and to ascertain the purpose of determining conditions there. Three Danish officials will inspect the German camps and three others will go to Russia.

Reinforcements to Dneister. Berlin, via London, July 21.—A dispatch to the Lokal Anzeiger from Cernowitz, capital of Bukovina, relates fierce fighting along the Dneister river, near the Bukovina-Galician border. The Russians brought up large reinforcements and made determined attempts to take positions on the left bank of the river, which had been captured by the Austrians. They were repulsed by heavy artillery, but the dispatch says their attacks gained them nothing.

MILITARY INSANITY CAUSE OF UPHEAVAL

DR. BURRUS, LOCAL SAVANT AND PHILOSOPHER, CALLS WAR
A DISEASE.

FINDS IT CONTAGIOUS

Milwaukee Germans Liable to Contract Malady While Reading War News, He Declares.

Military insanity, a highly contagious disease, whose chief symptoms are a disregard of human life and love of notoriety, is the cause of the present European upheaval, according to Dr.
A. P. Burrus, local savant and philosopher, who makes a diagnosis in a letter to the Gazette. The malady is so contagious, Dr. Burrus explains, that a Milwaukee German may easily contract the fever by reading the war news in a Berlin newspaper.

Dr. Burrus heads his treatise "MILitary Insanity: its cause, prevention and cure; how it causes degeneration for a thousand years," and handles it acidly as follows:

"This essay is respectfully assigned to His Majesty, the Kaiser, King William of Germany, and King George of England.

There are many forms of insanity which have been treated of at great length by specialists; but I am not aware that any author has ever written on military insanity. I claim this essay to be original.

"The earliest symptom is the disregard for human life, a desire to fight and kill! Of utterly disregarding the own fate, with love of notoriety, and the delusion that his name will be crowded with everlasting honor.

"Professor Clouston, of Edinburgh, a very able writer on insanity, considered love of existence the strongest passion of the human mind. When love of life is absent he regards it as one of the earliest symptoms of insanity, and the mind is abnormal.

"There are two distinct types of insanity, mania and melancholy. There are as many kinds of insanity as there are organs of the human brain, forty-two or more forms; but the will assumes one of the two distinct types.

"In mania, there is hyperthetia in one or more organs with exaltation and the person is very early and late and does not take time to rest or sleep. He talks lively and constantly.

"Melancholy insanity is the reverse in symptoms. The patient looks sad, does not talk, tell what he intends to do or give any reason why he intends to kill or commit suicide. Blood circulates through his brain.

"Insanity is generally diseased, constitution is an early symptom. The skin is dark with sallow complexion. The person mutters and talks to himself.
These factors are common in most forms of insanity.

"A third form of insanity is impulsive; periodical or circular, for like a fit, it comes on suddenly. Military insanity is always of the mania type.
But later it may assume the impulsive type, and lastly melancholy and death. Military insanity is more contagious than smallpox.

"A German paper is sent to a German in Milwaukee from Berlin, contracting the disease while reading the war news. He then wants to cross the ocean to have the fun of shooting the English and Russians. Young boys, 12 to 15, get the disease from reading the news and want to go to war and shoot someone.

"The present epidemic started in Austrian, and rapidly spread all over Europe.
It has now five two illustrations of the disease in its early form.

"King William is an illustration of high toned, military insanity. He is fighting for the Lord, when he is fighting for Lucifer, and sacrifices twenty thousand valuable lives to celebrate his birthday. He also labors under the delusion that he will conquer and better the condition of his people and fatherland. Instead, he is bringing on his people the greatest calamity in the history of the world. He is killing off his own people and men, leaving the criminal and diseased runts to propagate the race. In another month Germany will have a surplus of two millions of lady bachelors and widows, and have to marry cripples with one eye, runts and criminals, the gouty, rheumatic, asthi-ma, tubercular, cancerous or other infirmities, or will through the path of life alone. This will cause great degeneration in Germany which will not end in a thousand years.

"Farmers report the best herds of cattle, swine, horses, sheep, hogs and poultry. If they killed off the best and kept only the runts, the animals would soon degenerate and run out. The same great law of nature is true of the human family, and holds true throughout the vegetable kingdom.
Science shows that the human race is rapidly degenerating, and it is chiefly on the male side, caused by perpetual wars, rum and tobacco, while the women are improving mentally and physically. The young men are far ahead of the young women in all the colleges and schools. Six men have degenerated in stature about seven inches on the average during the past two thousand years.
King Saul was 7 feet, Goliath 9 feet 9 and a half inches."

HOLD OFF CONTRACT FOR PROVIDING COAL

City Council Receives Five Bids for Supplying Coal—Order for Many Sidewalks Passed.

No award was made by the city commission for the contract to supply coal for the city during the coming year at the regular council meeting held yesterday afternoon. Five bids were received from coal dealers, but because of the varied bids from each sender the commission sought more time to consider the contract. Business of routine nature was transacted by the commission besides the opening of the coal bids.

The $2,500 bonds filed by Ford, Boos and School for the construction of the addition to the city water works plant were approved and filed.
The bond of Mrs. Josephine Seem-ans, five hundred dollars, for dealing in second hand goods, was approved.

The report of the visiting nurse for the month of June was accepted and filed.
Plans as prepared by City Engineer C. V. Kersch for the construction for gas, sewer and water main on South Bluff street between Oakland and Clark street, were adopted and filed. The work will be put in before the asphalt macadam pavement is laid on this street. An order was passed for the improvement of Hyatt street between Milton avenue and Prairie avenue with curb and gutter.

Petitions for the oiling of Mineral point avenue between Franklin and Madison; Academy street from North to Washington avenue; West side avenue from Academy street to Center avenue; Locust street from Galena to Pleasant; and Center avenue from Pleasant to Rock river were received and the work was ordered to be done.

Orders were also passed for Glen street from Cornelia to Caroline and for Cornelia from Prospect avenue to Fourth avenue.

One of the largest orders for the construction of standard sidewalks was passed by the commission. Notices will be served on seventeen property-owners, but the will assume one of the two distinct types.

"In mania, there is hyperthetia in

STREET WALKING IS STOPPED BY POLICE

Several Girls Leave City in Response to Police Orders.—Several Others to Follow.

Recently three young women, with their complete wardrobes, with all their charms for show and left Jansville for the next morning. Police orders are carried out there will be several more going to lessen the number of habitués here. With girls whose names are not known, except for uncomplimentary nicknames were summoned before Chief Champlin and firmly informed them that the city was prospering to a much greater degree without their presence.

Despite pleadings and entreaties to be allowed to remain, the fair ones were instructed that the next morning provided them sufficient time to take their trunks with only their personal effects. Two of the girls obeyed the demands but the fourth, with the spirit of a sufragette, demanded her rights. She got them. Found by a patrolman on the streets at a late hour, coming from the interior car, she was taken into custody and told that if she was not along the missing the next morning, she would be taken to the city hall with her court case.

The second warning proved sufficient. Two others were recently given the instructions and it was reported they too had departed. For the last month the police have waged a campaign against practice of street walking in this city. Patrolmen have been given orders to bring girls that are found on the streets at late hours at regular intervals to the attention of headquarters and so in fact, to leave the city has produced the desired result. The efforts of the police has not been because conditions were immoral to any degree more than previous years, since the "clean up" but street walking has been strictly prohibited and watched by the officers. According to the police the system of ordering and taking the "fragile" residents to leave the city within a time limit is far more effective than court prosecution, for this method eliminates further trouble.

ATTORNEYS SETTLE CASES OUT OF COURT

Reach Agreement Today in Case of Newton Engineering Company Against Beasley and Company.

After a conference of more than eight hours, Tuesday afternoon and today, attorneys for the Newton Engineering company and C. H. Beasley and company of Beloit, reached a satisfactory agreement and stipulations were being drawn up this afternoon which will be accepted by the parties to the controversy. The action was for the foreclosure of a mechanics lien in the Beloit plant which was constructed by the plaintiff company, whose offices are located in Chicago. The terms of the settlement were given out. Judge Grinnon took a prominent part in the negotiations and urged an agreement in the interests of economy and justice to all concerned. Jeffries, Mouat, Oestreich and Avery were attorneys for the plaintiff, and Lyman, Adams and Bishop of Chicago and Ruger and Ruger of this city for the defendant. The settlement affected today practically disposes of a number of cases pending between the two companies and completely a litigation which would have been drawn along for several years. The action was dismissed from the local court and the parties are entirely satisfied with the outcome of the conference which was urged by Judge Grinnon. The case would have been taken to the supreme court. Judge Grinnon will return to his home in Jefferson this evening and will not return to the circuit court here until some date next week.

REFUSES JOB AT $250,000 A YEAR!

Samuel Felton.

Samuel Felton, one of the receivers of the Chicago Great Western railway, has turned down an offer of a salary of $250,000 a year for two years from the Baldwin Locomotive Company, which wanted him to take charge of turning out a large contract for ammunition received from Russia. Educational Criticism. A deputation waited on the president of the British board of education some time ago to insist upon this point: "That the present system of education tended to fit the child more for the life of a clerk, and to unfit him for rural and agricultural life." And it might have been added that not only does it fit him for the life of a clerk, but it unfits him for getting beyond that. It has put him through a system that has kept back all tendency to develop any initiative of his own.—Montreal Herald.

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH H. CAMERON

THE SUPERFLUITIES.
 "She had never realized that the glitter and magnificence of society in great capitals can exist only against a background of misery and starvation."

A friend of mine who is traveling sent me a picture post-card on which was the picture of a very castle of a house.

"Underneath it was written:

"This is one of the show places of this city. There are twenty-seven bath-rooms, besides all the other rooms. Eight servants are employed to keep the house in order, and the family consists of one elderly woman who seldom entertains."

"People here sometimes that luxuries should be enjoyed by the wealthy while the poor lack the necessities of life."

I do not think I resent the luxuries, but I do grow hot when I hear about superfluities. There is some justification for luxuries that are used, but in the face of all the misery in this world what moral right has anyone, no matter how rich, to superfluities that he hangs on to not for utility, but simply for the lust of possession?

Of course it is difficult to draw the line both between necessities and luxuries and between necessities and superfluities, but surely twenty-seven bath-rooms for one woman and four or five motor-cars, or half a dozen homes for a single family are superfluities.

And They Can Go Away.
 I never pass the handsome homes in a beautiful suburb of my home city in the summer when they are all closed and boarded up without thinking through the summer and yet it is those people who can go away, while those who live in the ugly, crowded part of the city where summer is unendurable have to stay in their homes. Another manifestation of the superfluities versus the necessities.

They tell us sometimes that these things have to be, that there is no other possible condition of affairs than satiety of luxury, but I am sure that the law of the land, and for the many the joy-killing lack of the simplest pleasures, lives blasted death from overwork, evil industrial conditions or plain lack of enough food to support life.

I don't believe it. And I have a reason.
The Country I Want to Visit.
 I have recently decided that I want most to visit when I go abroad. Norway. No, not because of its magnificent scenery, its wonderful mountains and fjords. But because of its social conditions.

Europe. It is not undoubtedly the happiest and most progressive country in the world for the poor, but it does not afford capitalists opportunities to have a sufficiency. Nobody is very rich and everybody appears to have a sufficiency.

Thank God there is such a place on this earth. Pray God there may soon be more.

Letters May Be Addressed To Mrs. Thompson, in Care of The Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Many of the girls who live near me (some who are not as old as I) am nearly fourteen and the boys and keep fourteen and the boys and keep steady company. Don't they think they will be more respected and better liked by the boys because I do not indulge in this?

(2) The older girls all seem to like me, but those who are just a little older act queerly. Sometimes they are all right and seem to be the best of friends with me, but at times they will scarcely speak. One or two seem all right at all times, but I cannot understand why they talk to me so queerly. I always try to act right at all times. All I like me, but I don't like to try to get me into trouble. Do you think she had any influence over them?

(3) All of the older girls seem to have plenty of boy friends. How do you suppose I could gain their friendship—that is as schoolmates?

(4) Don't congratulate yourself for courageously staying away from boys when the truth is that they do not go with them. Just because you do not go with them is no sign they will like you better.

(5) Something is evidently wrong with you since you do not make more friends and keep them. Ask one of your teachers, who knows you better than I, to tell you frankly what the matter is. A teacher could not hurt you any unless something were really wrong.

(6) Don't feel badly, dear. If you find that there is something wrong with your personality. Set about to conquer your faults. Until you are pleasing to people you cannot have boy friends. You are a one of my teachers. I liked me, but I don't like to try to get me into trouble. Do you think she had any influence over them?

riage licenses now being issued is nearly four times the normal. This is borne out in part by statistics which show that during the past three months there have been 4,000 more weddings in London than were held during the same three months last year. The bridegrooms include men home on leave from the trenches, men from the training camps, and men about to enlist. The officials make matters easy for them, in deserving cases, by reducing the usual fee.

CHILD LABOR LAWS EXPECTED TO PASS COMING CONGRESS

Child Labor Laws . . . wa-ohw1 o Southern Secretary of National Labor Commission Declares End of Evil Is Within Sight.
 (By Lowell Mellett.)

Washington, July 21.—Dr. A. J. McKelway, southern secretary of the National Child Labor committee, is certain that the end of child labor in America is practically in sight. The coming Congress is sure to enact the legislation for which the committee has been working, he thinks, since it passed the House by a large majority in the last Congress and only failed of passage in the Senate through obstructive tactics.

Leaving Washington for Atlanta and Montgomery, where the legislatures of Georgia and Alabama, respectively, are in session, Dr. McKelway said:

"The child labor situation in Georgia and Alabama is another proof of the need of a Federal child labor law. Even where some of our states reach something like the proper standard of legislation for the protection of working children, the question of enforcement of the law remains. In Georgia there is a bureau of labor, a Commissioner of Labor in charge. He is assigned the work of gathering statistics relating to the industries of the state. He has one assistant and a totally inadequate expense account. He has been able to accomplish almost nothing with this inadequate force in the way of factory inspection and the enforcement of the child labor law."

"In Alabama, the inspector of factories is also inspector of jails, asylums and poor houses. He is a competent man. He has done great work in compiling cities and counties, and has also striven the utmost of his means to enforce the child labor law. He has one factory inspector and a deputy inspector connected with his office. A bill introduced at the former session of the legislature, which passed the house, proposes to abolish his office altogether, and to give the job of factory inspection to the sheriff of the state. The thought of the people of Alabama express itself emphatically against such a proposition, but the very threat of its passage as the enforcement of child labor regulation depends upon the precarious will of state legislative bodies."

"I regard the bill of the Federal child labor bill at the next session of Congress as excellent. The majority for it in the house, which was 232 to 43 in the last Congress, will be substantially increased, and I have reason to believe that nine-tenths of the Senate is in favor of the measure."

"With a good start early in the session of Congress, it will be impossible to have a single objection to hold it up this time as Senator Overman did in the expiring hours of the last Congress. Undoubtedly the people of the United States are with a remarkable degree of unanimity in favor of the adequate protection of the working children from exploitation; and when Uncle Sam takes charge of the problem, the advocates of this reform will feel that the end of child labor in America is in sight."

NEW ANTI-FEMINISM

"Aren't American men and women on speaking terms?" asked the woman who has lived abroad for ten years.

"I have been to nine hen parties in a week and Burton has attended five stag dinners. We have, in four weeks, been at two dinners and two dances together. Is American social life labeled 'For Women Only'?"

"Our men are so busy every day," apologized her sister.

"And night," frowned the speaker. "All Burton's stag dinners are business affairs. It is wrong to let men become absorbed in strictly business interests. It is pernicious for us to live on social piffle—alone."

Although Governor Philipp has given no intimation who he intends to appoint on the new commission which comes into existence on August 1, it is reasonably certain that James Nevin, superintendent of fisheries, will be appointed as one of the members. CRISCO
 For Frying—For Shortening
 For Cake Making

Perhaps it is her daughter who has used it at Domestic Science School, or a neighbor who has obtained excellent results.

After the first trial, the old-fashioned cook slowly but surely comes to use Crisco for all cooking. She has become a Crisco enthusiast. She has found these advantages:

Frying. There is no smoke nor odor. Fried foods are free from the taste of grease. Now they are tasty and crisp and digestible. The same Crisco can be used to fry fish, onions, doughnuts, etc., merely by straining out the food particles after each frying.

Shortening. Crisco gives pastry a new flakiness and digestibility.

Cake Making. Crisco gives richness at smaller cost. It brings cake making back to popularity.

ADHESIVE PLASTER PUT TO NEW USES

Adhesive plaster has a long list of household uses. It comes in different widths and different qualities. If not warmed before it is applied, a hot iron should be lightly passed over it after it is in place.

All kinds of rubber goods, such as hot water bags, garden hose, raincoats, gloves, etc., are successfully mended with this tissue.

It is good to replace worn heel linings, thus saving the shoe.

Corsets may be mended and protruding stays held in place by this substance.

A tight bandage of it will mend a chair leg, and a strip of it applied to a rug that is inclined to curl will soon conquer such unruly tendencies.

Adhesive plaster furnishes a waterproof covering for cuts and bruises, and may be used to hold bandages in place.

Excellent fruit labels may be made of it, as the black may be lettered with red ink.

CROWN PRINCESS SEES GIVEN A FURLOUGH [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin, July 21.—The same mail which recently brought scores of letters of congratulation to Crown Prince Cecilie on the birth of her daughter, Princess Alexandra Irene, also brought a misadventure letter from a soldier. It was directed to the army headquarters in Berlin, and read:

"May please have eight days furlough since my wife is about to have a child? Reservist Welf Fohlmann."

The Crown Princess was not content with sending the communication to its proper destination. She added the following note:

"Very well," replied Allison. "Show him into the study. Babbitt, will you read to the gentlemen this skeleton plan of organization? If you'll excuse me, I'll be back in five minutes."

"Dalrymple?" inquired Taylor.

"Yes," answered Allison abstractedly, and went into the study.

He and Dalrymple looked at each other silently for a moment, with the old enmity shining between them. Dalrymple, a man five years Allison's senior, a brisk speaking man with a protruding jaw and deep-set gray eyes, had done more than any other human being to develop the transportation systems of New York, but his gift had been in construction, in creation, whereas Allison's had been in combination; and Dalrymple had gone into the railroad business.

"Dalrymple, I'm going to give you a chance," said Allison briskly. "I want the Gulf & Great Lakes Railroad system."

Dalrymple had produced a cigar while he waited for Allison, and now he lit it. He sat on the corner of the study table and surveyed Allison critically.

"I don't doubt it," he replied. "The system is almost completed."

"I'll accept a fair offer for your controlling interest," went on Allison.

"And if I won't sell?"

"Then I'll jump on you tomorrow in the stock exchange, and take it away from you."

Dalrymple smiled.

"You can't do it. I own my controlling interest outright, and no stock gamblers on the board of trade can affect either a share of my stock or the earning capacity of my railroad. When you drove me out of the traction field, I took advantage of my experience and entrenched myself. Go on and gamble."

"I wish you wouldn't take that attitude," returned Allison, troubled. "It looks to you as if I were pursuing you because of that old quarrel; but I want you to know that I'm not vindictive."

"I don't think you are," replied Dalrymple, with infinite contempt. "You're just a damned hog."

A hot flush swept over Allison's face, but it was gone in an instant.

"It happens that I need the new Gulf & Great Lakes system," he went on, in a perfectly level voice; "and I prefer to buy it from you at a fair price."

Dalrymple put on his hat.

"It isn't for sale," he stated.

"Just a minute, Dalrymple," interposed Allison. "I want to show you something. Look in here," and he opened the library door.

Dalrymple stepped to the opening and saw, not merely seven men, middle-aged and past, sitting around a library table, but practically all the freightable necessities of the United States and practically all its money, a dollar against which his many million dollar railroad system was of no more opposition than a toy train.

"The transportation department to be governed by a council composed of the representatives of the various other departments herein mentioned," droned on the voice of Babbitt.

The representatives of the various other departments therein mentioned were bent in concentrated attention on every sentence, and phrase, and word, and syllable of that important document, not omitting to pay important attention to the pauses which answered for commas; and none looked up. Dalrymple closed the door gently.

"Now will you sell?" inquired Allison.

For a moment the two men looked into each other's eyes, while the old enmity, begun while they were still in the womb of time, lay chill between them. At one instant, Dalrymple, whose jaw muscles were working convulsively, half raised his hands, as if he were minded to fall on Allison and strangle him; and it was not the fact that Allison was probably the stronger man which restrained him, but a bigger pride.

"No," he said, again with that infinite contempt in his tone. "Break me."

"An fight," accepted Allison cheerfully, and even with relief; for his way was now free to pursue its normal course. He crossed to the door which opened into the hall, and politely bowed Dalrymple into the guidance of old Ephraim.

"Dalrymple won't sell," he reported, when he rejoined his fellow members of the International Transportation company.

Joseph G. Clark looked up from a set of jotted memoranda which he had been nonchalantly setting down during the reading.

"We'll pick it up in the stock market," he carelessly suggested.

"Can't," replied Allison, with equal carelessness. "He's entrenched with solid control, and I imagine he doesn't owe a dollar."

Chisholm, with his fingers in his white mutton chops, was studying clean-shaven old Clark's memoranda.

"A panic will be necessary, anyhow," he observed. "We'll acquire the road then."

CHAPTER XI.

Gail Solves the Vedder Court Problem.

Rev. Smith Boyd, rector of the richest church in the world, dropped his last collar button on the floor, and looked distinctly annoyed. The collar button rolled under his mahogany highboy, and concealed itself carefully behind one of the legs. Rev. Smith Boyd, there being none to see, laid aside his high dignity, and got down on his knees, though not for any clerical purpose, whereas the little collar button shone so brightly that the rector's bulging eye caught the glint of it. His hand swung round, at the end of a long arm, and captured it before it could hide any further, then the young rector withdrew his throbbing head and started to raise up, and bumped the back of his head with a crack on the bottom of an open drawer, near enough to the top to give him a good long sweep for momentum. This mishap being just one degree beyond the point to which Rev. Smith Boyd had been consecrated, he ejaculated as follows:

No, it is not respectful, nor proper, nor charitable, to set down that Rev. Smith Boyd, in that stress, ejaculated; but a beautiful, gray-haired lady, beautiful with the sweetness of content and the kindness of humor, who had paused at Rev. Smith Boyd's open door to inquire how soon he would be down to dinner, hastily covered her mouth with her hand, and moved away from the door, with moist blue eyes, around which twinkled a dozen tiny wrinkles born of much smiling.

When the dignified young rector came down to dinner, fully clothed and apparently in his right mind, his mother, who was the beautiful gray-haired lady with the twinkling blue eyes, looked across the table and smiled indulgently at his disguise; for he was not a grown-up, tall, broad-shouldered man of thirty-two at all. In reality he was a shock-headed, slightly freckled archon of nine or ten, by the name of "Smitty" on the town commons, and "Tod" at home.

"Aren't you becoming a trifle irritable of late, Tod?" she inquired with solicitude, wifely suppressing a smile which flashed up in her as she remembered that ejaculation. It was shocking in a minister, of course, but she had ever contended that ministers were, and should be, made of clay; and clay is friable.

"Yes, mother, I believe I am," confessed Rev. Smith Boyd, considering the matter with serious impartiality.

Mrs. Boyd surveyed her son with a practiced eye.

"I think your appetite's dropping off a little," she commented, and then she was shrewdly silent, though the twinkles of humor came back to her eyes by and by. "I don't think you take enough social diversion," she finally advised him. "You should go out more. You should ride, walk, but always in the company of young and agreeable people. Because you are a rector is no reason for you to spend your spare time in gloomy solitude, as you have been doing for the past week."

Rev. Smith Boyd would have liked to state that he had been very busy, but he had a conscience, which was a nuisance to him. He had spent most of his spare time up in his study, with his chin in his hand.

"You are quite right, mother," he somberly confessed, and swallowed two spoonfuls of his soup. It was excellent soup, but, after taking a bite of a wafer, he laid his spoon on the edge of the plate.

"I think I'll drive you out of the house, Tod," Mrs. Boyd decided, in the same tones she had used to employ when she had sent him to bed. "I think I'll send you over to Sargent's tonight, to sleep with Gail."

The rector of the richest church in the world flushed a trifle, and looked at the barley in the bottom of his soup. His mother regarded him quietly, and the twinkles went out of her eyes. She had been bound to get at the bottom of his irritability, and now she had arrived at it.

"I would prefer not to go," he told her stiffly, and the eyes which he lifted much brighter for the confession. He drew his fish toward him and ate it.

Later the Rev. Smith Boyd presented himself at James Sargent's house, with a new light shining in his heart; and he had blue eyes. He had come to show Gail the way and the light. If she had doubts, and lack of faith, and flippant irreverence, it was his duty to be patient with her, for this was the fault of youth. He had been youthful himself.

Gail's eyelids dropped and the corners of her lips twitched when Rev. Smith Boyd's name was brought up to her, but she hid her hair in another way, high on her head instead of low on her neck, and then she went down, bewildering in her simple little dark blue velvet cut round at the neck.

"I was afraid that your voice was out," remarked Gail, in a tone suggestive of the fact that that would be a tragedy indeed; and she began hauling forth music. "You haven't been over for so long."

Rev. Smith Boyd colored. At times the way of spiritual instruction was quite difficult. Nevertheless, he had a duty to perform. Mechanically he had taken his place at the piano, standing straight and tall, and his blue eyes softened as they automatically fell on the piece of music she had opened. Of course it was their favorite, the one in which their voices had soared in the most perfect unison. Gail glanced up at him as she brushed a purely imaginary fleck of dust from the keys. For an instant the brown eyes and the blue ones met. He was a tremendously nice fellow, after all. But what was worrying him?

"Before we sing I should like to take up graver matters," he began, feeling at a tremendous disadvantage in the presence of the music. To obviate this, he drew up a chair, and sat facing her. "I have called this evening in the capacity of your temporary rector."

Gail's eyelids had a tendency to flicker down, but she restrained them. She was adorable when she looked prim that way. Her lips were like a rosebud. Rev. Smith Boyd himself thought of the simile, and cast it behind him.

"You are most kind," she told him, suppressing the tamps and demons which struggled to pop into her eyes.

Dinner Stories

the father, "wouldn't you like to go to West Point?"

"If I had my choice, dad," replied the son, "I'd like to be at Moccasin Point, Rockaway Point or Point Pleasant just about now."

Fifteen minutes went by, then another fifteen, and yet another. Finally the man at the table began to show symptoms of impatience.

"What can I do for you, sir?" asked the waiter, going over to the table in response to an imperative call.

"What about my order?" demanded the man. "How soon do I get that half chicken?"

"Just as soon as somebody comes in and orders the other half," was the calm rejoinder of the waiter.

"You don't think we can go out and kill half a chicken, do you?"

Yesterday a crowd of children were playing war in our back yard. Some were English soldiers, some French, some German. One little girl who was told she was too small to play began crying loudly, and kept it up in spite of all they could do, and even after the warning:

"If you don't shut up mother will hear you and make you come in the house."

Finally the difficulty was settled by a bright boy of ten.

"Oh, let her bawl," he counseled. "She can be the widow and orphans."

ITCHING ECZEMA COVERED ENTIRE BODY, RESINOL CURED

Doston, Mass., Aug. 11, 1914.—"My entire body, even my eyelids, was completely covered with blisters as large as a pea. "I used eight different kinds of remedies without success. I then tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and it stopped the itching IMMEDIATELY. I gradually noticed a change for the better. Now I am entirely cured, and am without a pimple or blemish on any part of my body."

BELOIT GRAVEL PIT

100 PER CT. EFFICIENT

Pit Near Here Is Supplying Ballast For Nearly All Lines of St. Paul Road—Occupies 50 Acres.

The Beloit gravel pit of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul is supplying ballast for a large part of the lines of that road, long hauls being justified by the high quality of the gravel and the economical operation of the pit, due to efficient methods which the layout of the pit has made possible. The pit is located on a tract of land, directly adjacent to the Wisconsin state line and one-half mile south of the main line of the Pacific & Southwestern division. It occupies a little more than five acres of land and is covered by an average of 10 ft. of sand, clay. As this material can be handled in wet or dry weather, the price per yard for stripping is much below the average.

In order to open the pit the first track was laid in an excavated line on a 4 per cent grade. When this had reached a point 8 ft. below the ground surface, a steam shovel was put in to dig a trench 20 ft. wide and 8 ft. deep, full length of the pit. A track was laid behind the steam shovel as it advanced so that when the latter had reached the end of the pit it was able to back out immediately and start another cut. Each successive cut of the shovel made a ft. deeper than the preceding one until the pit now has an average depth of 10 ft. throughout. The practice of building a track behind the shovel is followed each time. In consequence the shovel can start a new cut within 30 min. after it has finished the old one and the track in the pit is just ready for use at once as a loading track. As soon as the track is no longer used for loading it is taken up so that the material may be re-used behind the shovel. The track and the pit include a loading track and a makeup track, an engine track and a repair track. Including the lead room at the south end of the pit, the loading track is 4,000 ft. long. The makeup track is two storage tracks each 2,500 ft. long in the pit proper. The makeup, engine and repair tracks are located at the north end near the entrance to the main line. The tracks on which the trains are made up is 1,500 ft. long. The pit is laid with 75- and 85-lb. rail, using No. 10 turnouts. The tracks are maintained at a high standard and a policy which has been justified by the fact that there have been no accidents of any nature during the entire season of last year and so far this year.

C. M. & St. P. R. R. Engineers here are to have larger quarters for their lockers and implements. Another box car has been placed in the yards, next to the circular pit for this use. There are now two cars here. Lockers will be placed in the last one and lanterns, tools, and clothing can be kept safely from harm and theft.

John Fox, formerly roundhouse foreman here and now retired, but still lives in Janesville, paid the shops and yards a visit Tuesday.

John Moran, chief boiler washer and adviser to the men "higher up" at the local shops and yards, Tuesday.

Engineer Hobbs, who is just recovering from an all winter's illness, and who works on the Mineral Point division, was at the shops Tuesday, paying a visit to his friends.

Engineer Thomas Fox has gone to Madison for a few days, being called there on business.

The freight business has not been as good during the forepart of the week at the St. Paul yards, but last week was almost a record period, extra crews becoming quite a common sight.

Union Station Company (Chicago) Since three-quarters of the stock of the Union Station Company, of Chicago, which is to build a new union station, is held by the Pennsylvania and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, it is supposed that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the National City Bank will underwrite the sale of the bonds. It is said that this bond sale will amount to $25,000,000 to $30,000,000. The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy is the only other railroad owning stock in the new station, and the other companies which will use the station will pay a rental charge.

Chicago Northwestern Railroad Joe Smith, witness in the double header at the Sox park Saturday and remained in Chicago over Sunday.

William Whitmore of the St. Paul says he paid the shops a visit Tuesday. There are about 250 hand order cars in the local yards now, waiting to be repaired.

Engine 210 is undergoing light repairs at the roundhouse.

The Chicago & North Western has ordered two observation-lounging cars and three observation-buffet-lounging cars from the Pullman company, and is inquiring for 300 automobile cars, to construct railway lines outside the Great West. The termini of the proposed lines are the several places which will be opened as trade ports, such as Chifeng, Taonanlu, Dolonore, etc. The first line is from Peking to Jehol, a distance of 120 miles, with a line from Jehol to Chifeng, 150 miles, and another one of 170 miles, other lines are from Kalgan to Dolonore of 150 miles, and from Dolonore to Chifeng of 206 miles. These lines will be connected with the Peking, Mukden and the Peking-Kalgan railroads. The scheme is under the consideration of the Ministry of Communications.

A Substantial Crossing Barrier The Long Island Railroad, which has tried all sorts of exhortations to curb the spirits of automobilists who approach the railway tracks with reckless speed, has concluded to employ something stronger than words—a gate which cannot be broken down with impunity. At a crossing on the highway leading to Long Beach the company has installed gates, one on each side of the railroad, made of heavy spruce piles or spars 40 feet long and the short end of the gate is loaded with a counterweight of 1,000 lbs.

The successful operation of a terminal yard depends on the yardmaster, and to get results he must fit himself to conditions that are peculiar to the problems that surround him. He must first learn to know his work, get into the real game of it, co-ordinate everything to it, co-operate with all departments in the essential feature of the yardmaster is in perfect harmony with all the different department heads, his work will be less arduous.

INSTRUCT TEACHERS

IN HEALTH PROBLEMS

Series of Five Lectures Will Be Given at Summer Session in This City Beginning Monday.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Madison, July 21.—Wisconsin's rural school teachers are fitting themselves to be of greater service to their communities.

Fully 300 of the 600 teachers who are given the rural health lectures during the past three weeks, by Dr. W. D. Frost of the University, were from the rural schools. These lectures, showing how and where the diseases originate on farms, and how to prevent them, have been given in the normal schools at Superior and Stevens Point, and in the summer normal at Eau Claire. Opening Monday, July 19, the series of five lectures will be given for the benefit of rural teachers at the Orono summer normal, and will begin July 26 at the Rock County Training School at Janesville.

During the week which the lecturer spends at each school he holds special study hours and conferences with the rural teachers, showing them the best methods of teaching farm health to their pupils. Emphasis is given particularly to diseases that are of special importance to the rural population, such as tuberculosis and typhoid fever. The dangers of dirty milk and how to produce a pure product, the importance of pure water, air, and sunshine are some of the phases of the health question discussed.

After the lectures the rural school teachers are divided into small groups, and a conference is held with each group. They are then taught, by means of a microscope, to recognize tuberculosis, and other disease germs, and are taught to use a sterilizing system. In this way they see the danger in using products from tubercular cows, and realize the importance of the tuberculin test. Another step in these lessons is learning how milk can be made safe for use by pasteurizing it.

Charts, pictures, specimens, and tree literature on the subjects help the teachers get clearer ideas of how to fight disease and sanitary conditions. In connection with Dr. Frost, they work out plans for teaching good health methods to their pupils for the summer. In this way the university is cooperating directly with the Normal Schools in meeting the needs of the county schools.

PLAYGROUND HIKERS

TO CRYSTAL SPRINGS

Members of Webster and Jefferson School Ground Groups On Over-land Trip Tomorrow.

Thursday the children from the Webster and the Jefferson school playgrounds will go on a hike to Crystal Springs to spend the day. They will leave at nine o'clock in the morning and return about six o'clock so that the children will be home before dark. This outing will be the first of the kind for the children.

Following the hike, the Webster and the Jefferson school will make a walking trip to a place of interest in the near vicinity. It is also planned to hold a picnic or hike later in the year for all the playground teachers.

Because of the numerous rains and cold weather, the swimming lessons and playgrounds have had an uncertain attendance. The rains have made the grounds unfit for use on many occasions while the cold weather kept many away from the swimming lessons. In spite of these setbacks, the attendance on the grounds when the weather is good surpasses that of previous years.

In the baseball race, the Webster school nine is leading, closely followed by the Jefferson team. The Adams school team, Monday the Webster defeated the Jefferson team by the score of ten to six, giving them a lead by a safe margin. Today the Webster clashed with the Washington in a tell-tale battle.

WISCONSIN BOASTS MORE REPUBLICANS AND LESS MONGRELS

Gov. Philipp's Records as Governor Has Done Wonders for This State Politically.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, Wis., July 21.—Now that all the important measures of the 1915 legislature have been practically passed and with the end of the session in sight, it is the general impression here that Gov. Philipp has more than "made good."

Every single administration measure of importance has resulted in a victory for the governor and in this way, those measures which were defeated have placed the enemies of the administration on the defensive and will give the governor the strongest kind of a political issue in case he decides to run again; these measures which have been passed are self-evident victories and do not need demonstration.

More Plain Republicans.
In this connection it is interesting to observe the general political situation in the state at the present time. The Republican party has regained its integrity, which it lost in 1912. It is safe to say that there are more voters who are just plain Republicans in the state now than at any time in the past ten years. The actions of the progressives in the present legislature is to a certain extent responsible for this condition of affairs. These politicians have proven that they are educational stand-patters of the worst kind in refusing to adopt the central board plan on the grounds that it was "too progressive to be taken in one step"; they have demonstrated that they are obstructionists and that they have no regard for the mandates of the people as expressed in elections. They have shown most clearly that they do not believe in letting the people rule, except when the people want the same thing that they do. They have been anything but consistent; voting one day for a one-man agriculture commission, and the next for a three-man conservation commission. They are willing to accept a three-man printing board, that will save the state $100,000 a year, but they balk at a three-man agriculture commission that would stop leaks to the tune of $150,000 a year. One day they call a man a "stand-pat reactionary" in their journals and the next day they pat him on the back when they think they can get something from him. This was shown in the case of Senator George Staudenmayer. When he voted for the water-power bill he was denounced; when he voted the central board of education measure, he was given every consideration.

Couldn't Swing Democrats.
They have tried to manipulate the Democrats to support their measure, but a hard job because these men were elected on the same kind of a platform as Gov. Philipp. It is true that a number of the Democrats have been disorganized at the present time. The antics of Senator Hustling in his attempts to distribute political plums so that Senator La Follette might be elected helped to carry out the Democratic platform pledges in the senate.

Taking it all in all it looks as though there would not be much of a fight a year from now, even though Mr. La Follette himself enter the field. They can't overcome their high tax record or their record in the present legislature against "better business administration," lower taxes, consolidation of commissions and better rural schools.

NOW SHE'S GONE INTO THE MOVIES

Doris Woolridge.

Doris Woolridge is the latest dramatic star to succumb to the lure of the movies. She's first to appear in "The Bondman," with William Farnum. Miss Woolridge has the distinction of having appeared as leading woman in most of the noted stock companies of the country.

Official admission of the fact that recruiting has been failing to maintain the units now at the front for Australia is made by the minister of defense.

"Men must be forthcoming without delay to replace those fallen at Gallipoli," he announced in Parliament. One draft of reinforcements is nearly 2,000 short of the requirements. To maintain the units now at the front, Australia is pledged to provide at least 3,300 soldiers, and these men must have at least three months' experience before embarking.

He announced that the minimum height standard of 5 ft. 2 in. was to be reduced one inch, and he urged the newspapers to print a standing notice of the head of their columns, dealing with the standards for enlistment and the rates of pay.

Up to this time the public had been led to believe that the government was getting all of the recruits it could handle, owing to the fact that there is but one factory in the Commonwealth turning out rifles with which to arm them, but it appears now that the great want is men. Joseph Cook, the leader of the Opposition in Parliament and former minister for defense, declared that Australia was not by any means doing its best. "The empire," he said, "would take a quarter of a million men if Australia could train and equip them. I am not so sure whether the time has not arrived for the registration of all men under 60 years of age."

"Do you want conscription?" a member of the Cabinet asked.

"For the present," Mr. Cook replied, "it will be sufficient if we call the muster roll and so provide for the exigencies of defense."

PHYSICAL WELL-BEING OF BRITISH SCHOOL BOYS IS CAREFULLY GUARDED
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Sheffield, England, July 21.—The chief medical officer of the Government Board of Education has notified the Sheffield school authorities that the government regards the medical inspection and supervision of older schoolboys as a matter of supreme national concern. In the event of a long war, he points out, boys who are now about fourteen years old may become the source from which recruits for the army will be drawn. Their physical well-being is therefore of utmost importance.

It had been proposed to discontinue the school medical inspections here for the duration of the war, owing to the shortage of physicians.
